

Born in Belgrade and living in Toronto, Nik Dudukovic has worked for over a decade with agencies and clients as a senior creative director and brand developer. He has implemented design strategies for a range of international clientele through print, motion design, VR, and interactive

Nik is an annual judge for the ADAA Adobe Awards, has taught thesis animation at Sheridan University, and advises graduates through OCADU's Career Mentoring Program. He is the recipient of Communication Arts / Cannes Lion awards for his work with numerous clients, including Budweiser, Facebook, Reebok, Samsung, and Adidas

His leadership in project development and delivery is rooted in creating experiences, products, and technologies that shape companies and their clients for the better. Together, this is our advantage.